DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The Examiner acknowledges the amending of claim 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-13 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The Examiner believes that the current amendment directed towards the amount of plasmon mode intensity being "similar" on one side of the first interface of the doped waveguide layer to the opposing side differentiates the application from that of the prior art. As discussed in the "Remarks" filed 06/28/207 by the Applicant, the prior art teaches the amount of mode intensity on one side of the interface to be of a substantially differing amount than on the opposite side. Most of the prior art, such as the cited Colombelli, acts to reduce the amount of similarity between the two interfaces, effectively doing the opposite to that claimed. Other prior art was found to teach the basics of the device structure such as: US 6301282, 6501703, 6829269, and 2006/0153262. Further, US 5502787 taught a very similar structure however the doped semiconductor waveguide was bounded on one side by a metal layer. This metal layer would not "support" the plasmon mode due to the real parts of the dielectric constants not being of opposite sign (to support the plasmon mode the interface must be with that of a real part of the dielectric constant of opposing sign, so: $-\epsilon + \epsilon - \epsilon$, or vice versa). As the prior art failed to teach the overall device structure with the mode intensity similarity, or to motivate the use of similar mode intensity levels, the Examiner is of the belief that the current claim limitations overcome that taught by the prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
